Customers, communities, and governments around the world are actively expressing concern on climate change and environmental degradation. Consequently, organizations such as yours are under pressure to reduce any harmful effects on the environment.

Environmental auditing and certification services will provide you with third-party verification of your organization's green initiatives and improvements.

EMS ISO 14001 is a worldwide standard for environmental management systems. EMAS stands for Eco-Management and Auditing Scheme. Audits to ISO 14001 consider both environmental management systems and environment-related operation for organisations that wish to improve their environmental performance.

Certification according to ISO 14001 can in principle be used by any organisation. Decisive factors are the sector, sales market and objectives in the area of public relations.

Our Service

The ISO 14001 standard is the internationally recognised that provides practical tools for organisations to manage their environmental responsibilities. It can help any organisation, regardless of its activity or sector, map a framework that they can use to develop a competitive environmental management system. It is an effective means for identifying and systematically reducing potentially harmful impacts on the environment.

ISO 14001 focuses on improving environmental performance rather than improving the management system.

The Environmental Management Systems standard stresses leadership's engagement and a need to understand the context of ISO 14001 to better manage risk and promote environmental management.

Benefiting You

The Environmental Management Systems standard can provide assurance to company management, employees and external stakeholders that potential environmental impacts are being measured and improved.

- Cost saving through continual improvement of operational/active environmental protection
- Saving of resources (e.g. energy, water)
- Timely implementation of environmental protection measures
- Reduced fees for approval procedures
- High level of legal compliance and demonstrability with regard to measures designed to create trust in relation to customers, official authorities, insurance companies and the general public
- Reduction of environmental risks
